

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

A pet stroller having an enclosure mounted in a tray provided in the bottom section of a frame. The frame has a tray located in its bottom section, a handle for pushing the pet stroller and wheels for rolling along a surface. The enclosure has a flexible material secured to its frame which covers the outer section and at least one end of the enclosure. The flexible material may be a netting material such as fish netting. The enclosure also has a door releasably secured to an end of the enclosure. A padded fabric layer is provided on the bottom section of the enclosure.